History:
The Women’s Faculty of Education was established in 1973. The scientific departments which included Sciences and Home Economics separated from the literary departments in 1996. In 1997 the faculty further separated from Home Economics and was renamed the Faculty of Education for Scientific departments. In 2009 the faculty became affiliated to King Abdul-Aziz University and renamed The Women’s Faculty of Sciences.

This program is affiliated to KAU

History:
The Mathematics Department at the Women’s Educational College was established in 1973 and originally merged with the department of Physics. In 1974, the department separated to become independent entities. The Mathematics department is now affiliated to the Mathematics department at King Abdul-Aziz University following the merger of the Women’s Educational College and King Abdul-Aziz University in 2009.

History:

The Physics department at the Women's Educational College was established in 1973 and was originally merged with the department of Mathematics. In 1974 both departments became independent. In 2009 the Physics department became affiliated to the Physics department at King Abdul-Aziz University following the merger of the Women's Educational College with King Abdul-Aziz University.
